

Energy & Sustainability Partnership

A smarter approach to energy costs, generation and compliance.

Energy is a significant and increasingly important operating cost for businesses. The challenge is not simply to reduce consumption. It is to understand where the opportunity sits across the whole organisation — what you use, what you could generate, what you should be paying for the energy you still need, and where investment can deliver the strongest return.

Through the partnership between AP Prokure and Peace Marsh, businesses can access an independent, joined-up approach to energy and sustainability.

THE FREE AUDIT COVERS WHAT YOU RECEIVE

We review available energy data, bills, contracts, physical facilities and renewable generation opportunities to establish:

- ✓ Where energy costs are coming from
- ✓ Where consumption can be reduced
- ✓ Where renewable generation could make commercial sense
- ✓ Whether energy is being procured effectively
- ✓ Which opportunities can be delivered without significant capital expenditure
- ✓ Where investment is required, with indicative payback
- ✓ Where the strongest returns exist across the estate

WHY IT MATTERS

Energy is one of the largest controllable overheads after staffing. Reducing it protects margin without touching the care budget, and produces the auditable consumption and emissions data that commissioners, lenders, insurers and NHS or local authority tenders increasingly ask for.

NEXT STEP — NO COST, NO OBLIGATION

Book a free audit.

An independent review of your bills, your physical facilities and your land-plot opportunities — and a straight answer on where the money and the carbon actually are.
